City of Ottawa officials have been advised that contractors are scheduled to begin remediation of the former Luminous Process site (at the corner of Jefferson and Clinton Streets) and the adjacent small parking lot to the north (809 Clinton Street) early next week.

Mobilization is to begin Tuesday, May 26, 2009. The excavation, shipment of materials and demobilization phases are expected to be completed by early to mid-July. The duration of the project could change based on weather, efficiency, quantity of waste encountered, etc.

As requested by the EPA's contractors, both areas will be closed to all public parking during the LPI remediation process. The lots will be reopened to the public as soon as possible.
